

Leader Conversation Guide – Most Requested: Parenting

Main Idea

Strong families don't happen by accident. They are built through intentional choices that communicate love, create connection, speak life, and establish a lasting legacy. In Mark 10, Jesus welcomed children, made space for them, and blessed them. His example reminds us that children need more than provision; they need our presence, encouragement, and spiritual guidance.

This week's message challenged us to think beyond simply raising our children and consider what we are passing on to future generations. We may never be perfect parents, but we can be praying parents who consistently point our families toward God. As we begin our discussion, let's consider which of these principles God is inviting us to strengthen in our homes.

By wisdom a house is built, and through understanding it is established.
PROVERBS 24:3

Make it Practical:

Building a Lasting Family Legacy

1. Be intentional with affection and attention.
   - Children need to experience love through both physical connection and the time we invest in them.
   - Mark 10:13–16
2. Speak life into your family.
   - Your words have the power to encourage, strengthen, and shape how your children understand their identity and worth.
   - Proverbs 18:21; Mark 1:9–11
3. Pass on an inheritance that lasts.
   - Build a legacy through financial stewardship, an honorable name, and a faith that points future generations toward God.
   - Proverbs 13:22
4. Be a praying parent.
   - You cannot control every outcome, but you can consistently pray for God's guidance, strength, protection, peace, provision, healing, and wisdom for your family.
   - James 1:5; Isaiah 41:10; Psalm 46:1

Talk About It

Think about the way you grew up. What did your family do well to communicate love, and what would you like to do differently in your own family?

Why can it be difficult to make intentional time for family in a busy season of life? What changes could help you be more present?

What kind of legacy do you hope your family will carry forward, and what is one thing you can begin doing today to help establish it?

You'll never be a perfect parent,
but you can be a praying parent.

Prayer

Lord, thank You that we do not have to be perfect to be faithful. Help us love our families intentionally, invest our time wisely, and speak words that strengthen and encourage. Give us wisdom for the challenges we face and help us leave a legacy of faith, character, and generosity. May our families fulfill Your will and purpose for their lives. In Jesus' name, amen.

Next Steps

Evaluate your family rhythms. Identify one area where busyness is limiting connection and make a practical change to create more time together.

Define your legacy. Write down three values or spiritual truths you want your family to carry into future generations. Choose one way to model them this week.

Practice intentional stewardship. Consider how you can use your time, finances, and influence to bless your family and invest in the generations that follow.
